

GENEROUS OFFER

The Lee & Osgood Co. Guarantees Parisian Sage to Cure Dandruff, Stop Falling Hair or Itching Scalp or Money Back.

But Parisian Sage is more than a cure for dandruff—it will make hair grow on any head where the hair bulb is not altogether dead.

And we want every reader of The Bulletin to know that Parisian Sage is the most delightful hair dressing in the world. It is so pleasant to use, and its effect is so invigorating and refreshing, that it pleases everybody.

The women of Paris are, as a rule, beautiful and keep beautiful, and a careful American observer who has traveled much claims that their beauty is due to their knowledge of how to keep their hair luxuriant, which they do by using a superior hair tonic.

Many American women are as wise as their French sisters, and that is why Parisian Sage, the quick acting and greatest of all hair restorers and tonics, is now having such a tremendous sale in America.

Mothers who want their children to grow up with vigorous and lustrous hair should surely use Parisian Sage. Parisian Sage is sold by leading druggists everywhere and in Norwich by The Lee & Osgood Co. at 50 cents a large bottle. Mail orders filled; all charges prepaid by the American makers, Glouster Mfg. Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Girl with the Auburn hair is on every package.

BIBLE CONFERENCE DAY TODAY

Services will be Held at Armory by Evangelists Morning, Afternoon and Evening—Attendance Wednesday Evening Greatly Impressed—Dr. Stough to Return Sunday.

The attendance at the union evangelistic service at the Armory on Wednesday evening was very large—double that of the evening before. A spirited song service was led by the chorus under Mr. Spooner's direction, and the extra music for the evening was the rendering of "Just As I Am" by the choir of the Second Congregational church. Miss Elsie Brand giving the solo part. Prayers were offered by the Rev. C. H. Ricketts and by the Rev. S. H. Howe, D. D.

Services at Armory Today.

Rev. F. O. Cunningham gave the announcements for today, which is Bible conference day, and a great day in the campaign. Besides the usual prayer meetings at 9 a. m., services will be held in the Armory at 10 a. m., 2 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. There will be addresses by several out of town speakers who have been connected with Dr. Stough in his other campaigns in various places. He also spoke of the special meeting Friday afternoon, on Motherhood, and the request to wear a white flower on Friday in honor of mother. Dr. Stough is expected to return in time to hold another men's meeting on Sunday afternoon.

Rev. L. L. West, D. D., chairman of the executive committee, stated that several hundred dollars were needed to defray current expenses, and urged the filling of the pledge cards given out and the speedy raising of the amount, so that the usual collection may be dispensed with.

Mr. Herring's solo for the evening was "In the Land of Endless Day," which was given a fine rendering.

Several requests for prayers were read and prayer offered by Rev. W. T. Thayer. The scripture reading was from the third chapter of the first epistle of John. Four verses were taken as the basis of the subject chosen by Rev. Mr. Cunningham for his address. Verses he says, stand for action. Men may quarrel over the nouns of belief, but the verbs are positive. The Christian life is in the realm of action. The first verb considered was the word "am." This word is the meaning of the grace of God and I am. The word grace suggests what Paul had been—a sinner. Guests had transformed the persecutor into the apostle and imitator of Christ. He is the prototype of the sinner saved by grace. He says no more than we can say today. He recognized the fact that he was a sinner—that must always come first in any experience. Men are prone to palliate, ignore or cover up their sins, or compare them with much greater ones. They must use this word, I am, with recognition of the fact that they are sinners—it may be saved by grace.

The second verb is the word "ought." This is a word which swings like a gun on a swivel and is liable to hit anyone—saved or unsaved. Even Jesus himself bowed before the force of it. "Ought not Christ to have suffered," he said. Ought really means that it is necessary. The Bible says that men ought to pray. This does not mean Christians or ministers only. All men ought to pray. Prayer is not merely asking for something. It is communion with God. They should pray because they have a great God from whom they can draw inexhaustible supplies of grace and help. Men ought to obey God. This is not only a duty, but a privilege in the highest sense leading to beauty and harmony in their lives. Men ought to behave themselves in the house of God. That means that they should shoulder their own load in the church and be helpers and workers.

The third verb is "can." There is but one verse in the Bible where this word is used in the sense of moral ability. Paul says, "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me." He has set us a high standard of moral ability, but we can echo his words. The fourth word is "will." This question of what a man wills to do is of vital importance. Not only is it important at the beginning, but through each subsequent step in the continuance of the Christian life. It needs determination all the way through. Give up the old man and his will of selfish gratification which puts others as well as himself in peril.

I won't is nearly as important to say to degrading influences. The prodigal started homeward when he said "I will go." If things are not as they ought to be, then say "I will."

The meeting closed with prayer by Rev. P. C. Wright.

The afternoon meeting at 2 o'clock at the Central Baptist church was well attended and full of interest. The opening song service was led by Mr. Spooner and prayer was offered by Rev. H. Ewing of the First Congregational church.

Rev. Mr. Cunningham called for reports from the cottage prayer meetings before he began his sermon and a number were given. These were followed by Mr. Herring's fine harp solo, "My Lord and I."

Speaking from the text Galatians II, 20, "Yet not I but Christ liveth in me," Rev. Mr. Cunningham interested his hearers with a thoughtful sermon upon "The Christian Life." This he declared was the life of Christ lived in the believer. Jesus died for us and he gives and continues to give his life to his people. Paul declared that of a Christian life all depends upon our vital relation to Christ.

Ushering Staff.
The efficient ushering staff at the union evangelistic services at the armory has been done by a volunteer corps under the direction of E. A. Brown, chairman. They have been divided into sections which usher on alternate nights. All the ushers have been drawn from the various churches of the city, and the following is the way they have worked:

Monday, Wednesday and Friday—Noah Lucas, Herbert W. Gallup, Roger Champion, Broadway Congregational; Guy B. Dolbear, J. B. Stanton, Trinity Methodist; A. E. Heckwith, Park Congregational; E. I. Arnold, Albany L. Brown, Central Baptist; W. E. Gilbert, Trinity Episcopal; C. H. Hobson, Greenville Congregational; H. D. Johnson, Second Congregational.

Tuesday and Thursday—L. R. Church, H. E. Church, G. J. Ashbey, G. F. Noyes, N. E. Smith, G. W. Hamilton, C. E. Smith, Central Baptist; J. H. Larrabee, Second Congregational; E. G. Andrews, W. L. Stearns, C. I. Smith, Broadway Congregational; J. C. McPherson, F. H. Allen, Trinity Methodist.

There are a number of substitutes also and several who at first were ushers are now in the choir. These are George F. Hyde, Ray M. Newberry, Fitch L. Allen and Walter M. Cowan.

ELDER BROWN PASSES
EIGHTY-NINTH BIRTHDAY.
Has Been in Ministry 63 Years and Would Follow that Calling Again.

Rev. Joseph P. Brown, or Elder Brown, as he delights to be called, and as his "children," the people of New London, delight to call him, was 89 on Wednesday. At his home, 199 Huntington street, in New London, he quietly passed the day. Some of his "children" called on him; men and women, whom he had married; others whom he had baptized and others whom whose loved one's remains Elder Brown had laid the last few words of comfort. Others came for whom Elder Brown had ever performed a similar service, but to whom he had always been a friend and by his lovable nature, an inspiration.

In the evening Elder Brown, received his friends. There was no formal observance of the anniversary. Elder Brown is not formal and doesn't admire things that are. Neither does he like parade and so he preferred to quietly pass the day with his little birthday party.

Elder Brown was educated in the Watford schools and later in the New London Academy, which stood where the Bethel now is at the corner of Huntington and Jay streets. Subsequently he attended a Methodist school at East Greenwich and finally the Baptist Theological school at New Hampton, N. H., from which he graduated. This school has since been purchased by the Free Will Baptists.

He first preached at Charlestown, R. I., in 1846, going in 1849 to the Plainfield Baptist church, Plainfield, Conn. Here he remained 23 years, going to New London to the Second Baptist church in 1871. In 1877 he retired from active ministry, in the sense that he no longer held a pastorate.

Of the 725 marriages Elder Brown has performed, about 550 of them were performed in New London. Some were from out of town, but many were New London couples.

"The smallest sum I ever received for performing a marriage," said Rev. Mr. Brown, "was 25 cents, but sometimes I didn't receive anything."

"I married this poor man who was murdered down here in his barn; Dever Copeland was his name. I got a dollar for the fee, which was only a few dollars for the murderer, I suppose. I'll never forget the marriage I performed in Plainfield. The bride and bridegroom drove up to my house in the groom's express wagon. I married them and got a $20 fee. The express wagon was used to save the expense of a carriage."

"I had the pleasure the other day of attending the fiftieth anniversary of the wedding of Judge Walter Tillinghast of Plainfield, for years judge of probate, now retired through age. It was a big event. I thought it rather a remarkable occurrence that I, who married Judge and Mrs. Tillinghast, should be present at their golden wedding."

"In Brown university there is a professor, whose father and mother I married, and another whose grandfather and grandmother I married."

"There was amusing feature about some," said Elder Brown, "but love seemed to be the prompting force in most cases."

But marrying is not the only function of the church which Elder Brown has performed in his 63 year ministry. He has preached more than 5,000 times, officiated at 1,597 funerals and at many baptisms.

In the course of a conversation the ministry as a profession came in for discussion. "If I were to begin life again I'd be a minister. You hear people say that the ministry is no profession and that they would never think of entering it; that it requires too much sacrifice and has no prospects, but I would begin life again as a minister if I had the chance."

Graton—Master Richard Allen, son of Carlos W. Allen, is ill with diphtheria.

The Tug Tasco in the South.
The T. A. Scott Co.'s wrecking tug Tasco, bound from New London to Key West, Fla., where she will attempt to save the Boston schooner Medford and Fontenac, wrecked in the typhoon a fortnight ago, has arrived at Mayport, Fla.

Given a Reception.
Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wals returned Tuesday from their wedding trip. They were given a hearty reception by thirty of their relatives, a bountiful supper was served and an enjoyable evening spent until a late hour. They left wishing Mr. and Mrs. Wals a long and happy life.
